

SS.912.A.7.12 Globalization, Terrorism, and Social Movements from 1970 - 2010

- Example 1 Answer

In the United States, most new jobs created during the 1980's were jobs that

- a. were classified as managerial
- b. provided services rather than produced goods
- c. depended on heavy manufacturing
- d. were farm related

Answer

b. Provided services rather than produced goods.

Since the Reagan administration the United States production of goods as drastically diminished and our economic production has shifted to service providers instead.